STRIKERS UGLY AT HAZLETON

Saloons Ordered to Close There Until 4 P. M.

TEN OF THE VICTIMS ARE BURIED.

A Deputy Sheriff Reported Hanged at Latimer—Outbreak Expected at Any Moment.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 13—All the liquor saloons in this city are closed until 4 o'clock p. m. This course was decided upon at a conference between Mayor Altmiller and General Gobin because the funerals of ten of the victims of the late tragedy were set for this morning. The number of miners in attendance will be large and the authorities fear a disturbance should the miners have access to liquor at that time.

The feeling among the miners still continues to be very ugly, and an outbreak might follow any false step on the part of the authorities.

There is a persistent rumor here that a deputy sheriff has been hanged at Latimer by the enraged miners, but a telephone message to that place brought the response that nothing of the kind had occurred.

EVAGELIST LEE IN WINSTON.

He is Stirring up Things in the Twin-City.—Much Interest Manifested.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

WINSTON, Sept. 13—Evangelist J. W. Lee began a ten days' revival here yesterday afternoon. His large tent is pitched on the old baseball ground, and notwithstanding the warm weather he has a large crowd at each service, and much interest is manifested in the meetings.

Last night he got onto the aldermen who voted the town "wet," and when he got through with them they had knots on them like unto goose eggs.

Something like fifty persons arose for prayer last night, and the meeting promises to stir things to the bottom before it closes.

PROTEST AGAINST ANNEXATION.

Steamer Arrives From Honolulu Reporting News from the Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The steamer Gaelic arrived to-day from China via Honolulu. On board was Admiral Oxley, late chief of the British squadron in China waters: the admiral is returning to England via New York. The steamer brought news that the rains on the islands have been continuous and the sugar crop is larger than any previous one on record.

The natives are anxiously awaiting the arrival of ex-Queen Lillioukalani, who is now in San Francisco on her way home. In case of annexation she will petition the United States for an allowance consisting of the income from the sales of public lands on the islands.

When the Gaelic sailed posters were up calling a meeting of the natives for September 6th to protest against annexation.

Laying of the Corner-stone.

HEADQUARTERS NORTH CAROLINA DIVISION, UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Sept. 11.

On the 17th of September, 1897, the corner-stone of the monument to those gallant sons of North Carolina who are buried at Winchester, Va., will be laid with appropriate ceremonies. It is eminently appropriate that, upon such an occasion, there should be present a large delegation from the veteran soldiers of this State. Therefore the General Commanding earnestly urges that every camp in this division send delegates to Winchester to attend the laying of the corner-stone of the monument to their fallen comrades.

By order of William L. DeRosset, Major-General Commanding.

JUNIUS DAVIS,
Adjutant-General and Chief of Staff.

MURDER IN WINSTON, N. C.

Bill Day, Colored, Kills His Sweetheart,

THEN LEFT FOR PARTS UNKNOWN

Before the Arrival of the Officers. Laid-Out the Corpse and Put a Pillow Under the Head.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

WINSTON, N. C., Sept. 13.—Bill Day, a negro man who works for P. H. Hanes & Co., tobacco manufacturers of this city, killed his sweetheart, Laura Ellis, out near the "Pond," a tough section of the city, Saturday night about 10 o'clock.

The negro, after he had discovered that the woman was dead, laid her out, put a pillow under her head and lit out for parts unknown before the arrival of the officers.

Green Scales, who lives in the adjoing house to the scene of the murder, was standing near the window and saw the murder committed. He says Day was drinking and accused his girl of being untrue to him. She denied the charge, but so enraged her lover that he struck her a blow back of the ear with his fist, breaking her neck.

Officers are on the look-out for the murderer, but up to 10 o'clock this morning have no clue as to his whereabouts.

A GOOD PLAN

Suggested for the Renovation of the "Meadow."

The fact that the "meadow" is a disgrace to our city and should be cleared out has long been patent, but the trouble has been in suggesting a plan that was feasible. So long as the locality continues to be inhabited by the class of people who now make it their home it is impossible for the police force to keep it quiet.

A gentleman who owns property in the "meadow" has made a proposition which, if carried out, will rid the neighborhood of its objectionable characters. This gentleman suggests that all those who own property in the "meadow" sign an agreement not to rent or lease any of the property whatever to women of ill-fame or other objectionable characters.

The gentleman to whom the proposition was first made was rather favorably impressed with it, but after talking with two other "meadow" property owners they concluded that they would concur in the proposition, provided the city would exempt the property from taxation for a term of years. While the city is anxious to rid the commnity of these undesirable inhabitants, it is doubtful if they could exempt the property from taxation.

It is to be hoped that these gentlemen will think over the matter and decide to clear the "meadow" of this scum and rif-raff of civilization. The old shanties could be torn down, the place cleaned up and decent houses erected which would bring in much more rent than is being realized from the property at present.

Gompers on the Tragedy at Latimer.

WASHINGTON Sept. 13.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, to-day, after bitterly denouncing the killing of the men near Hazleton as a brutal murder said:

"The men were marching on the public highway. They had as much right to march to Latimer or any other place as the President of the United States. The mine operators in the madness of their supposed power and in their effort to enslave labor have used judges and courts to give the color of the law to the most fragrant violation of the rights of the people. Sheriffs and deputies taking their cue from their superiors, have carried out this policy and killed men exercising their rights under the constitution and law.

In his published explanation Sheriff Martin makes an effort to incur favor by repeatedly emphasizing his statement that the miners he killed were foreigners. It may be true that these men were not native Americans, but they were the men brought here by the greed and cunning of the mine operators and so long as they submitted to being starved no word as to their foreign birth was heard, but this cry of foreigner is like a cloud of dust raised to obscure the crime. The miners will win their humane and heroic struggle; they deserve to win; their conduct has challenged the admiration of their friends and sympathizers.

Valuable Museum Burned.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

ANSTERDAM, Sept. 13.—The museum at the National Exhibition of Science at Aruheim burned to-day.

HE WAS ASTONISHED

At the Large Number of Buildings Going up in Greensboro.

"How long since this boom struck Greensboro?" asked a gentleman who has recently come here Saturday night. He was informed that it was no boom, but what is far better, a good, healthy growth that Greensboro is enjoying. The gentleman remarked further that he had been over most of the city since coming here, and that on every street he had been there were new buildings going up.

This was quite a revelation to the gentleman, as it would also be to many of our people if they would stir around a little and observe what is going on.

It is impossible for the newspapers to keep up with the new buildings that are going up and the many other improvements that are being made, for it is a daily occurrence.

Yet the demand there is in Greensboro for houses shows that not enough new houses are being built. There is not so great a demand for little three or four room shanties, but up-to-date modern houses. in good locations, can be rented at good prices with no trouble.

Attention K. of P.

All members of Greensboro Lodge, No. 80, K. of P., are urged to be at the meeting to-night. Work in second rank.

THE HAZLETON SHOOTING.

Deplorable as was the killing of miners near Hazleton it is best perhaps to reserve judgment until the smoke has lifted sufficiently to fix the blame where it belongs. Several things it has brought out very clearly. One of them is that it is dangerous, in circumstances where a cool head is required, to entrust lage bodies of armed men to the command of those whose only recommendation is that they are successful politicans.

The sheriff in command of seventy deputies was practically a military officer, but without the coolness under trying circumstances that a military officer has taught to him from the beginning. Such a man is much more likely to exaggerate his own danger and the gravity of the occasion.

The men who make up the sheriff's posse also are only too often devoid of all sense of responsibility and utterly reckless of human life, when convinced that they can be sheltered under the law. It appears in one of the sheriff's interviews that he did not give the order to fire. He declares that someone else gave it. This appalling tragedy is only what one would expect when a heterogeneous mob is armed with Winchesters and sent out to uphold the dignity of the State. They are much more likely to break the law than to enforce it.

Another noticeable feature of the affair is that all of those killed were foreigners; Hungarians, Poles, and Italians. Where does the responsibility primarily rest? Undoubtedly upon the coal operators—the men who imported this class of labor and then drove the men to desperation by starvation wages.

It was a bad business all around, and the most unfortunate part of it is that it has apparently put law and order in the wrong. In its ultimate potency for evil this feature over shadows even the shocking loss of life.

THE summer of 1897 has been an exceedingly warm one in several ways. The return of belated prosperity, the Klondyke gold craze, an epidemic of crimes and lynchings, strikes and coal riots, war scares and yellow fever have, together with old Sol, contrived, one in one section, another in another section, to bring the public mind to a state that is somewhat feverish and unhealthy. It is to be hoped that cool days may come early and bring cool heads with them; both are needed badly.

A CORRESPONDENT in yesterday's Charlotte observer advances anew the old theory that the Anglo-Saxon race is the lost tribes of Israel. We presume it is nothing to the disadvantage of the theory, as theories go, that every fact of history, philology and archaeology contradicts it. Theories never concern themselves with such insignificant things as facts.

SPAIN will make a very grave mistake if Weyler is recalled. He may have allowed the Insurgents to capture a stronghold or two, but it will be hard to find another warrior who is such an accomplished linguist.

IF it takes a cabinet meeting to properly impress Secretary Sherman with what he must not say on the stump in Ohio, it is at least doubtful whether what he does say will be good advice for the Ohio voter.

POSSIBLY the Governor's delay in the execution of the pair of Wilsons is only an "impressive pause" that all may see the grace with which he bestows the coup de grace.

WASHINGTON real estate is said to be very dull. That is easily explained—the enspiriting presence of Mr. Cleveland has been withdrawn to academic shades.

THE trill of the pensive poet who sings of the melancholy autumn days has not yet been heard in the land.

A WOMAN has been chosen to serve on a jury in New York—the jury is said to have disagreed.

DEATH OF MRS. J. P. ESTES.

She Was a Daughter of Mrs. A. F. Fowler of this Dity.

We clip the following from the Independent, published at Houston, Va.:

After a critical illness of many weeks, Mrs. James P. Estes died on Tuesday, at the residence of Mrs. B. M. Estes.

The deceased was quite young, and attractive in person and character. Her maiden name was Miss Jenny Fowler, and she a native of North Carolina. By her intelligence, pleasant and refined manners and amiable disposition, she greatly endeared herself to those who knew her well.

A consistent member of the Presbyterian church, she evinced the highest resignation during her sickness, and made it manifest that she was not afraid to die.

Her husband and two little children survive her.

The afflicted family have the sincere sympathy of a wide circle of loving friends.

Wednesday afternoon the funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. J. Shipman, at the Baptist church and at the grave, in the presence of a large gathering of sympathizing friends.

The casket and grave were covered with beautiful floral tributes.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

NEWS OF THE TAR HEEL STATE.

Concord will petition the Southern for a new passenger depot.

Evangelist Lee is now conducting a series of meetings in Winston.

James Wren, of Salisbury, will probably do the decorating for the Winston tobacco fair.

The secretary of state issues a charter to the Pearl roller mills at Randleman, capital $100,000.

Gerald McCarthy, late botanist at the A. and M. College, goes to Cornell for a year's study in his specialty.

Steps are being taken looking toward the completion of the three C's railroad through to the Ohio river.

The Southern will decide definitely on October first whether it will build the road from Mooresville to Mocksville.

The Winston Sentinel will issue an industrial edition Octobor 15th. It will advertise Winston and the tobacco fair.

Last week's tobacco sales in Wilson amounted to 659,352 pounds, averaging $9.00 per 100 pounds. The sales on that market, for September, have been 1,250,000 pounds.

The North Carolina press gang will go to Nashville Sept. 20. Those who wish to do so may stop off in Chattanooga and take in Lookout Mountain and Chicamauga park.

Saturday was the largest opening in the history of the University. One hundred and eighty-two freshmen registered up to 5 o'clock and many came on the later trains. Lectures begin today.

The telephone line from Elkin to Sparta has been completed, and the people of the two towns are now talking to each other. Elkin will soon be able to "hello" to Bristol, Chattanooga and Morristown, Tenn.

Col. A. T. Uzzle, one of the most popular and beloved sons of North Carolina, died at the home of his brother, Mr. G. T. Uzzle, at Wilson's Mills, N. C., Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, after a lingering illness.

Chief Marshal P. H. Lybrook, of the State fair, will have a large staff and his headquarters will be at the Park Hotel. He expects seventy-five assistant marshals, besides those from Raleigh. Thirty-four have already accepted.

The governor has a letter from H. B. C. Nitze, assistant state geologist, who is now at St. Petersburg, Russia, accepting the appointment as a delegate from North Carolina to the seventh annual international geological congress now in session there.

The following fourth-class postmasters have been appointed in North Carolina: Beaufort, G. W. Wheatley, Jr.; Forest City, W. T. Long; Obids, H. L. Burgess; Pocosin, D. M. Hobbs; Sincerity, A. A. Griffin; Tusquitie, Oro Moss; Union, S. E. Knight.

News and Observer: It was rumored even before the trustees of the deaf, dumb and blind institute met that Patillo, who was afterwards defeated for principal of the colored institution by Joe Perry, would bring suit against Jim Young for preferring charges against him which caused the board to postpone the election, and thus, he says, lost him the position. This report has been revived and it is said that Mr. Pittman, of Henderson, has been retained by Patillo.

The Primitive Baptists term themselves the "regulars" and are, as a general thing, known as the "Hardshells," and are quite strong in this state. It is learned that twenty churches of this denomination in the Wilkes and Surry section will at once become missionary Baptists. Rev. John E. White will go there in a few days to receive them. Four years ago the late Rev. Dr Columbus Durham received an entire association of them, twenty-five churches, as Missionary Baptists. From time immemorial they have been anti-missionary.

The train from Springhope to Rocky Mount met with an accident Saturday morning about 100 yards from the river bridge, about two miles from Rocky Mount. A box car next to the engine jumped the track and pulled the second and first class coaches off. The trucks of the box car were dislodged. There were nine passengers on the train; all received a very severe jar, but no one was hurt much. The track was cleared by 1:30 o'clock Saturday night and trains running on the Nashville branch yesterday on regular time.

George W. Vanderbilt is a passenger on the steamer Lahn which will arrive in New York next Tuesday. His guests, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McNamee and Paul Leicester Ford, the novelist, are with him. Mr. Vanderbilt gave a delightful summer tour to these guests and to Dr. and Mrs. S. Westray Battle, of Asheville, who arrived home recently. The World says that Mr. Vanderbilt, after a short stay in New York, will come to Baltimore, where he will have a large house party in the autumn and for the Christmas holidays.—Asheville Citizen.

FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

Interesting Topics That Engross the Attention of Europe.

Although President Faure's life has several times been attempted and is known to be threatened at the present moment by the anarchists, yet he declined to permit any members of the French police or Parisian detective force to accompany him to St. Petersburg, declaring that it would constitute a slur cast upon the hospitality of the czar and of the Muscovite nation. In this he differs from Emperor William, who during his stay in the Russian capital a fortnight previously was guarded by a perfect horde of Berlin police officers, although no attempt has ever yet been made upon his life or his existence in any way menaced.

English consular reports just issued in London call attention once more to the enormous amount of Belgian, French and German capital that has been invested in industrial enterprises in Russia during the last three years. Forty million dollars of Belgian money has been invested in iron works in Poland alone and is already yielding a return of 40 per cent. For some reason or other English and American capitalists are holding back, declining to take advantage of the opportunities placed at their disposal, although Russia is in the very infancy of its industrial development and will require foreign help in this respect for a long time to come.

The clearance sale of the British admiralty has now begun, and faded troopships, superannuated cruisers and obsolete torpedo boats are being offered to the highest bidder at absurd rates. Among the number are the Bacchante, a cruiser of nearly 3,000 tons, in which the Duke of York and his elder brother, the late Duke of Clarence, circumnavigated the globe. Another, the Canada, was one of the earliest cruisers to have an armor deck. The oldest of the vessels is the Vengeance, a wooden battleship armed with 84 guns and representing the type of man-of-war that figured in the battle of Trafalgar and other great naval conflicts in the early part of the century.

While in France the population is according to some stationary and according to others diminishing in size, the neighboring kingdom of Belgium is giving evidence of an altogether phenomenal growth. Official statistics just issued at Brussels show that the population has more than doubled during the century, while during the same period cities and towns have tripled and quadrupled their population, Antwerp having grown no less than 883 per cent since 1860.

President Kruger's sudden and totally unlooked for declaration to the effect that his government absolutely declines to recognize the suzerainty of Great Britain over the Transvaal, an announcement all the more unexpected by reason of his recent demonstrations of good will toward the English, may be accounted for by the exasperation which has been caused among the Boers by the news that Dr. Jameson has returned to Africa and that he is once more employed in an official capacity by the Chartered company, having been appointed to the command of the force which has just been dispatched from Salisbury against the witch doctor Kenlbin. At the time when the doctor was turned over by the Boers to the British authorities, immediately after the Transvaal raid, it was expressly stipulated that he should under no circumstances be permitted by the English government to return to South Africa, and the fact that he should be not only back there, but actually in command of an armed force, is naturally regarded as a gross breach of faith.

A painful impression has been created at Madrid by the refusal of Don Romero Robledo, the boss of the Conservative machine in Spain, to consent to any kind of conciliation with the important faction of dissident Conservatives under Senor Silvélas, the most honest and patriotic statesman in the kingdom, who has arrayed under his political banner men such as Martinez Campos, Captain General Blanco, and, in fact, all those Conservatives who are opposed to political corruption and in favor of a humane and sensible treatment of Cuba, as well as of the Philippine islands. A reconciliation between the two divided factions of the Conservative party would have strengthened the latter, as well as assured its continuance in office, whereas the continuance of the split will result in the overthrow of the cabinet.

That the lot of the sailor in the British mercantile marine is no bed of roses is shown by a report of the government board of trade just issued in London and according to which the number of cases of desertion during the 12 months which have just been brought to a close exceeds 14,000. With the exception of a few hundreds only, all these deserting seamen were what are known as long voyage men, and their abandonment of their ships in some foreign port, usually an American one, meant to them not only the sacrifice of character, with the certainty of imprisonment in the event of recapture either at home or abroad, but likewise the loss of all accumulation of pay, which is only given to the men on completing the time for which they have shipped. The board of trade calculates that, estimating the accumulated pay of each deserting sailor at a minimum average of $50, nearly $750,000 is thus lost to the sailors and to their families at home, the money, of course, remaining in the hands of their employers. The English government now proposes to devise means by which shipowners and ship masters who often brutally treat their men with the express object of inducing them to desert without demanding their pay should be forced to disgorge all such accumulations of wages for the benefit of the nearest relatives of the deserters. —New York Tribune.

TRIALS OF A CONTRACTOR.

He Comes in Contact With a Woman's Will and Stops Work.

One of our contractors has a contract to build a large and commodious residence for a Greensboro gentleman, but he is about to come to the conclusion that the gentleman who gave him the contract is not the only person interested. "There is a woman in it," for the gentleman is married.

The other day she went out where the building is going on and found the house well under way, but some part of the work was not being done to suit her. She tried to prevail upon the contractor to change this particular part of the building, but the man refused, saying it was not specified in the contract and that he could not change it unless the lady's husband agreed to it.

Now the husband is a traveling man and is at present away from home, but his wife is determined to have the house to suit her taste and has had the contractor stop work on it until her husband returns. That contractor had just as well go ahead and finish up the building according to the lady's wish, for he will find that he will have it to do. "When a woman will she will, and when she won't she won't.

Tomorrow.

Promptly at 11:50 tomorrow West's excursion will leave for Asheville, the fare being only $2.00 for the round trip. Mr. R. L. Vernon, T. P. A. Southern Railway, will accompany the excursion, as will also many of our best citizens. This excursion deserves to be well patronized by our citizens, as Mr. West has used his best efforts to give first class accommodations to all. Remember you must purchase tickets from the agent of Southern railway and you must be at the depot in time, as every ticket has to be signed and stamped. Positively your last opportunity to visit Asheville this season at such remarkably low rates.

Reception at Guilford.

A public reception was tendered the students of Guilford College by the faculty Saturday night. The reception was given in order that the students might have an opportunity to mingle together in a social way and get better acquainted. A large crowd was present and the affair passed off very pleasantly.

Quite a number went out from Greensboro.

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

Only $2.00 to Asheville and return.

A colored excursion left here this morning over the C. F. and Y. V. for Wilmington. The colored population was well represented on the train and everybody seemed happy.

The Sample Brown Mercantile Co. advertise some special bargains in lace curtains today. Mr. Brown has just returned from the northern markets, where he picked up many rare bargains.

Rev. P. M. MacLeod will preach in the court house on next Sunday, Sept. 19, at 4 o'clock p. m. The public in general is cordially invited to attend. Mr. MacLeod was formerly of Michigan, but is now a citizen of our city.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS.

Another Building on South Elm to be Remodelled.

One by one the old landmarks in Greensboro are passing away, and being reglaced by new and modern structures. In fact, so radical has been this change, and so great the improvement, that a former resident returning to the city can hardly recognize the place.

The one-story brick building between the Katz building and Richardson & Fariss' drug store, the property of Mrs. Yates, and which is now used as a barber shop, will be greatly improved at once. The old front will be torn out, another story added to the the building, and a new granite and plate glass front put in to match the front of the Katz building.

The building has been leased by W. A. Wingate & Co., who hope to be able to occupy it by October 15. To their stock of sewing machines they will add even a larger line of bicycles next season than they handled this, making a specialty of bicycle sundries and supplies.

This is one of the most desirable locations in the city, and one that will always rent without any trouble. We understand that there are now several parties who want the building, but it has already been leased for a number of years to Wingate & Co.

Bound Over to Court.

The case of the fellow Boozer, of which mention was made in Saturday's TELEGRAM, was called before Mayor Nelson Saturday afternoon, and sufficient evidence was introduced to send him on to court. Not being able to give bond, he was placed in jail.

The evidence was not thought strong enough to convict him in the matter of carrying a concealed weapon.

Boozer is what is known in common parlance as a "slick duck." He seems to have perpetrated frauds in every town at which he has stopped. A telegram from Charlotte states that he stole his baggage out of the Central Hotel at that place and skipped, leaving a board bill of over $18 behind.

Fine Coaches.

The coaches to be used on West's excursion to Asheville to-morrow will be the best the Southern has. For several nights one and two coaches have been sent to Raleigh for the excursion train.

This will be a comfortable trip, and the prospects are that a large crowd will go. The fare is certainly as low as anyone could wish—only $2.00 to Asheville and return.
